

In the event that the decision of the Bundesamt für Migration und Flüchtlinge (Federal Office for Migration and Refugees) transmitted/handed over includes a threat of deportation or deportation order, observance of the following remarks is requested:

Important information according to the Aufenthaltsgesetz (AufenthG – German Residence Act)

Instruction in accordance with § 60 a (2d) AufenthG

If you suffer from an illness that could impede deportation, you must substantiate this with a medical certificate. You are obliged to submit this medical certificate immediately to the Foreigners' Registration Office responsible for you. The date of the medical certificate is decisive for the observance of the criterion "immediately." If medical certificates have been issued that could impede the deportation of your underage child, you must likewise submit these.

If you fail to submit this certificate or do so belatedly, the finding made in this medical certificate can no longer be taken into account in the deportation. Your submission to the effect that you or one of your underage children is ill will not be heard in the deportation. This also applies even if you submit the certificate immediately, but it fails to meet the legal requirements.

If the Foreigners' Registration Office responsible for you doubts the certified illness, it can order a medical or medical officer examination. If you do not obey this order without adequate grounds, the responsible authority is entitled not to take the illness submitted into account in the deportation.

Instruction in accordance with § 50 (4) AufenthG

On account of your obligation to leave the country, you are obliged in accordance with § 50 (4) AufenthG to notify any change of accommodation and any departure from the district of the Foreigners' Registration Office for more than three days in advance to the Foreigners' Registration Office responsible for you. If you breach this obligation, you must expect that you will be taken into custody prior to deportation (§ 62 [3] no. 2 AufenthG).
